CONFERENCE

The NSSA ScreenX 2026 program features keynote speakers, industry-led sessions, panel discussions and the NSSA National Awards Gala Dinner, delivering two days of insight, practical learning, conversation and celebration.

TOM POTTER - KEYNOTE: DAY 1

Change. Evolve. Thrive

From leaving school at 15 to launching his first store at 23, Tom Potter went on to build Eagle Boys Pizza into one of Australia and New Zealand's largest privately owned pizza companies.

Through bold innovation, calculated risk-taking, and unconventional marketing, Tom carved out a powerful place in a competitive and often cost cutting market. Recognised as one of Australia's leading Keynote speakers, his engaging, innovative and straight-talking style delivers insights that are practical, honest, and designed to drive results.

JUSTIN KABANNI - AI EXPERT

Unleash the Power of AI in your Business

Discover how AI can drive growth, boost productivity and deliver real business results. In this practical, high-energy session, Justin will cut through the hype and explore how AI can be applied across marketing, sales, operations and leadership. Justin delivers practical insights on using AI to drive growth, improve productivity and stay competitive.

Meet Justin Kabanni at the NSSA Stand following his Day 2 session. Chat with him about opportunities for small business to large teams and learn more about his coaching and workshops.

DAN & ED - TRADEMUTT KEY NOTE: DAY 2

Helping reshape the blue-collar industry through bold ideas and real impact

Starting off as tradies and small business owners, Dan and Ed have grown TradeMutt and TIACS into nationally recognised enterprises with social impact. Their story offers valuable insights into entrepreneurship, building purpose-led businesses and creating impact beyond the bottom line.

Wear your TradeMutt Shirt Friday 4 September - If you are a TradeMutt fan, you've heard of Funky shirt Friday! Grab your shirt and help us fill the room with colour.

CONFERENCE

SCOTT BARBER

Safety Leader and Strategist

With over two decades of experience advancing high-risk industry practice through innovation, education and advocacy, Scott leads the Working at Height Association (WAHA) as CEO - transforming it into a nationally recognised safety body driving regulatory alignment, collaboration and industry engagement. Scott advises government, emergency services, and industry on falls prevention, rescue readiness, and high-risk system design. Scott translates complex challenges into practical strategies that improve safety, build capability, and save lives.

Working at Heights Association (WAHA) - meet Scott Barber at the NSSA Stand - Day 2.

JACK RYAN

NSSA National Awards MC

A Jack of all trades, a long-time friend of the association and a familiar face to many in the industry, Jack brings a wealth of experience and insight to the stage. Having served in key roles across the NSSA - from the Board, Marketing and Technical Committees, he knows what it takes to make our industry tick and is passionate about celebrating the people, the products, and the projects that represent the best of the best - making sure those behind them get their moment to shine at our National Awards Gala Night.

BEAU BLAKEMORE - NSSA CEO

Beau is the National Security Screen Association Chief Executive Officer and Technical Manager. Coming from a trade background, in carpentry and glazing, Beau spent many years in the construction and security screen industry developing small businesses and working hands on. His passion for the industry led to product innovation, testing, and industry representation on Standards committees.

Today, Beau is recognised as a subject matter expert by organisations across Australia, educating and advocating on behalf of the NSSA and industry.

CONFERENCE

YOUR NSSA SCREENEX SESSION HIGHLIGHTS

REDEFINING COMPLIANCE: THE NSSA 4 TICK PLAN

Introducing a nationally recognised Installer Accreditation Program that could reshape our industry. 4 Tick Compliant empowers Installer businesses to leverage sales and growth by recognising compliance and elevating your business profile. Whether its government procurement, commercial contract awards or general residential. 4 Tick literally means business.

BUILDING OUR FUTURE WORKFORCE

Bringing together a panel of industry leaders and business owners to explore workforce challenges and opportunities, including the new Certificate III qualification, available funding, training pathways, and ongoing professional development. Hear what's changing, what's available, what it means for your business, and how to attract and retain the next generation of skilled workers.

SUPPLY CHAIN COMPLIANCE: WHY IT MATTERS

This practical, training-style session explores how compliance is defined under Australian Standards and what really separates compliant from non-compliant outcomes in real-world application.

From supply and manufacturing through to fabrication and installation, this session will unpack how compliance is achieved, interpreted and maintained at each stage of the supply chain.

SUPPLY CHAIN: PANEL DISCUSSION

Bringing together the NSSA's leading system suppliers, this panel will tackle the challenges, opportunities, and decisions shaping the future of our industry. Hear how collaboration has already delivered industry-first initiatives such as the NSSA Dual Direction ICP and learn what's next, as industry leaders work together to influence change, raise standards, and support your business.

WORKING SAFELY AT HEIGHT

Working at height involves far more than preventing falls. It requires the right planning, equipment, competency and safe work practices. Join Scott Barber, CEO of the Working at Height Association (WAHA), as he shares practical strategies to help security screen businesses better manage risk, strengthen safety culture and move beyond simply meeting compliance requirements.

Relevant to anyone involved in measuring, manufacturing or installing security screens, this session offers practical takeaways that can be applied immediately in the workplace.

Two days at Screenex can fast-track months of learning, research, meetings and catch ups
